BRIGADIER WILSON LEAVES CYPRUS

U THANT TO VISIT MOSCOW

ALSO TO VISIT ITALY, SWITZERLAND AND ICELAND

It was made known at United Nations Headquarters in New York last week that UN Secretary-General, U Thant, planned to visit Moscow at the invitation of the Soviet Union. A formal announcement of the date is to be made after arrangements are completed.

The Secretary-General has visited the Soviet capital on three previous occasions — the last one in July 1964.

Meanwhile, at a luncheon meeting with the United Nations Correspondents Associ-

HAMILTON LEAVES

PARTIAL FINCON ROTATION

A partial rotation of the Finnish Contingent with UNFICYP took place on Monday (27th June) and yesterday (Tuesday, 28th June). A total of 294 officers and other ranks left Nicosia on board chartered flights of the Yugoslav Adriatic Airlines and were replaced by 253 all ranks. As a result of this rotation, the overall strength of the Contingent has been reduced by approximately fifty all ranks.

Further appeal for UNFICYP funds

UN Secretary-General, U Thant, told a press conference in New York last week that he did not think that the United Nations should be indefinitely involved in its peace-keeping functions in Cyprus.

Later in the week, the Secretary-General again appealed to all UN Member States for voluntary contributions to maintain the peace-keeping operation in the Island.

Speaking at a luncheon meeting with UN correspondents in New York, the Secretary-General said that he had been trying in the past few months to present some ideas to the parties primarily concerned with a view to a solution; but that so far these efforts had not been conclusive. He expressed the hope that the parties would try their utmost to find a peaceful solution before the end of the year, when the new mandate of the UN peace-keeping operation ends. (See text of questions and answers on page eight).

ation, U Thant also announced other European travel plans for the end of June.

The Secretary-General said he planned to go to Turin, Italy, 30 June for the first global meeting of the co-Administrators of the UN Development Programme and all its resident representatives.

He will then proceed to Geneva to attend a meeting

Stating that the voluntary method of financing used in the Cyprus operation had proved to be unsatisfactory, U Thant told reporters that the prospects were not very bright regarding the future potential of the world Organization in the sphere of peace-keeping activities.

The Secretary-General said there was a mood of disappointment and even frustration among many members of the United Nations regarding the very slow progress of the discussions in the 33-nation Committee reviewing the overall problems of peace-keeping operations.

It the UN was to develop into a really potent force for peace, he said, it must have the tools to perform its work; without them, many members felt there would be a stagnation for some time to come, and this was not in the interests of the Organization or of world peace.

SAUDI KING VISITS U.N. HEADQUARTERS

His Majesty, Faisal Bin Abdul Aziz, King of Saudi Arabia, paid an official visit to United Nations Headquarters in New York last Friday.

He held a private conversation with the UN Secretary-General, U Thant and later was his guest at luncheon.

Stavrovouni Klosteret

Godt 30 kilometer syd for Nicosia, lidt øst for Limassol-vejen, ligger Stavrovouni Klosteret paa egnens højeste bjergtop. Man kan køre helt til toppen i jeep, og det er umagen værd, for det er en herlig tur, og der er den skønneste udsigt over en trediedel af Cypern fra klosterets terrasse. Og hvis man interesserer sig for lidt mere end blot at nyde en udsigt, har stedet ogsaa et spændende sagn at berette.

St. Helene, kejser Konstantin den Stores Stores mor, var i aaret 327 paa vej hjem til Konstantinopel fra Jerusalem, hvor hun havde grundlagt den hellige gravkirke. En storm tvang hendes skib til at søge læ paa Cyperns sydkyst. Forkommen efter det haarde vejr paa havet lod Helene rejse et telt paa stranden for at hvile ud. Men hendes søvn blev forstyrret af sære syner. En engel viste sig forhende og befalede, at hun, som hun havde gjort det i det hellige land, ogsaa her skulle bygge kristne kirker, og da hun vaagnede fortalte en tjener, at der var set et mærkeligt lysskær fra bjergtoppen mod nord.

Fra Jerusalem medførte Helene halvdelen af det kors, som Kristus var blevet korsfæstet til, samt de to kors, som det o røvere var blevet korsfæstet paa. Det blev nu opdaget, at det ene kors manglede, det som den røver, der tog Jesus i forsvar og som Jesus lovede skulle

Alle ved DANCON kender udtrykket "at have fod paa". Redaktionen har hermed fornøjelsen at præsentere læserne for en illustration til et nyt udtryk, nemlig "at have fod paa en fod". Det er kontingentets adjutant, kaptajn F.A. Rasmussen, der sidder paa hug paa et mosaikgulv ved Curium vest for Limassol. I gulvet ses et billede af Ktisis, skabningen, gengivet som en ung kvinde med krøllet haar. I sin højre haand holder hun et maal, og maalet er en romersk fod. Kaptajnens fod, med sko, holdt maalet præcist.

komme i Himmerige, havde hængt paa. En eftersøgning blev iværksat, og korset fundet paa bjergtoppen. Nu forstod Helene, at det var Guds vilje, at der her skulle bygges et kloster med en kirke. Stedet havde tidligere haft et hedensk Jupiter tempel, og bjerget hed den gang Olympus, men nu kom det til at hedde Korsets Bjerg, Stavrovouni.

Fra middelalderen er der flere beretninger om pilgrimmes besøg ved klosteret. Det ejendommelige er, at de alle næsten enslydende fortæller, at røverens kors var i en nieche i kirken, men det stod ikke paa gulvet, det hang heller ikke ned fra loftet, det svævede i luften!

Gaar vi i dag ind i kirken, maa vi ikke vente at se mirakler. Der er godtnok et gammelt kors i en nieche, men det staar paa gulvet. Det er iøvrigt heller ikke det oprindelige, for det forsvandt under krigshandlinger for flere hundrede aar siden. De fleste af bygningerne er heller ikke særlig gamle, men stedet er det samme, og udsigten er som sagt vidunderlig, og maaske kan man faa en af munkene til at lave sig en kop stærk kaffe og skænke et glas koldt vand.

ST. HANS VED DANCON

St. Hans blev fejret paa behørig vis ved DANCON. Flere steder havde man baal. Ved Nicosia Club holdt officererne stor fest med damer og dans. T-officeren, major T.Lind holdt baaltalen paa engelsk (af hensyn til de mange gæster), medens heksen paa toppen af baalet flygtede til Bloksbjerg.

Midsommarstången reses med hjælp av villiga hænder. Længst t.h. underhållningsbasen överfurir Ragnar Johansson, Västerås.

Hundgruppens stjärna Kant syns här under ett komplicerat dubbelhopp T.v. hans förare Leif Hansson och t.h. hundgruppchefen furir Klas Källström..

The Pipes and Drums of the 2nd Battalion var ett ovaligt och populärt inslag i midsommarfirandet på Carl Gustaf Camp.

Stor succe i Famagusta för midsommar- firandet

Midsommarfirandet på Carl Gustaf Camp i Famagusta blev en stor succé. Det var major Nils-Erik Byström i spetsen för en tapper och arbetsam skara som svarade för arrangemangen. Utöver personal från STR-komp och staben med anhöriga, fanns bland gästerna representanter för civilpolisen samt ortsbefolkningen. C:a 350 kunde räknas in, när The Pipes and Drums of the 2nd Battalion spelade upp sitt hemlands vilda toner.

Efter detta ovaliga inslag i ett svenskt midsommarfirande var det dags att resa majstången och därefter trädde långdans till dragspelsmusik.

Primus motor för underhållningen var överfurir Ragnar Johansson, som sedan ledde en flergrensstafett med bl.a. äggloppning, kexätning och öl-druckning. Tpc:s lag drog det längsta strået.

På planen framför huvudförrådet följde så en förnämlig uppvisning av hundgruppen under ledning av överfurir Klas Källström, Mölndal. Det var fem hundar som tillsammans med sina förare visade sig på styva linan. Den verkliga artisen var hunden Kant som tillsammans med sin förare Leif Hansson, Strängnäs svarade för bl.a. apportering av en k-pist och ett ägg (!). Efter väl förrättat värv fick Kant slicka i sig det råa ägget som belöning. Som avslutning företog han en ridtur på sin husses rygg till allmän munterhet.

Kommandanten, major Byström inbjöd till middag, som var dukad på tennisplanen och avåts under stort gemyt. För middagsmusiken svarade polisassistenterna Bosse Lindeberth, Uppsala, och Anders Sjöman, Nyköping, samt kapten Harald Broman, Strängnäs. Ett jublat tal till Kvinnan hölls på engelska av löjtnant Thomas Lorichs. (Vad får han allting ifrån?).

Sedan intogs scenen av överfurir Johansson och hans förmågor som bidrog med sång, musik och sketcher samt en skämtcyklist som uppträdde på en enhjulscykel. Fyra medlemmar The Pipes and Drums dansade den välkända Sabeldansen och därefter spelade orkestern upp till dans, som varade ända in på småtimmarna.

Firandet av midsommaren följde i stort sett samma mönster på de övriga kompanierna och arrangörer och deltagare kunde så småningom belåtet somna in i den inte alltför ljusa midsommarnetten.

Ur gäst- boken

En glädjande nyhet så här i sommarvärmen! Bataljonen får i början av augusti besök av en svensk underhållningspatrull som kommer att roa oss med sång, musik och dans.

Primadonna är sångerskan Brita Borg. Allan Johansson spelar elorgel och Egil Johansen sköter batteriet. Med i truppen är också sångerskan Laila Nyström och balettdansösen Lena Wennergren.

Här trädde midsommarfirandet av gammal och ung, av civil och militär till äkta svensk dragspelsmusik. Det är "Små grodorna, små grodorna" som just nu prövas.

WASHING — soldier in style. All washrooms are air conditioned.

THE DAWN — begins a new day as Corporal McLean continues the peace vigil.

ALL'S QUIET — is the favourite report to the command post.

LEAVE — after three months of eating dust the Mediterranean looks inviting.

The sun was just over the Mediterranean horizon and he squinted into the glare and said "our job is to be human radars"—speaking was a 28 year old corporal platoon leader from Halifax, Nova Scotia.

peace keeping duties in March 1964.

Corporal McLean's outpost is code-named Hanley's Hill and its located west of the capital of Nicosia. Called an OP in soldier language, its one of sixteen OP's manned by Canadians. The blue berets and red Canada flashes can be seen from Nicosia to hilltops 15 miles north in the Kyrenia mountains and some are only accessible by foot or helicopter.

A few city blocks away from the Canadian Contingent Headquarters in Nicosia is a Finnish OP on top of an abandoned flour mill and within sight of it is a Danish OP. And so on throughout the 3,572 square miles of Cyprus until you have met the British, Swedish and Irish Contingents.

Tanned and now a veteran of United Nations duty, Corporal McLean will windup his six months tour of duty with the 2nd Battalion of the Black Watch in October when the 1st Battalion of the Royal Canadian Regiment arrives.

CONVOY ESCORT

One of B Squadron's major tasks is that of convoy escort along the Nicosia-Kyrenia Road. It is an enjoyable job permitting a troop to be on steady employment for two weeks. The convoy departs Nicosia twice daily. As the heat increases every day, the convoy troop has quite a task keeping both the cars and trucks mobile and everyone reasonably cool.

Coffee break is a relaxing portion of the trip as between 0930 hrs and 1000 hrs, the troop enjoys a coffee and a sandwich at the harbour in Kyrenia. The whole of the effect is quite impressive for a soldier from Canada as he drives up in a Scout Car to the harbour; he then looks at the sea, the sidewalk restaurants, and ancient ruins. In the afternoon, the troop take a short walk along the Mediterranean coast from 1500 to 1540 hrs.

Finally, a day on the convoy returns, refuels, and the cars in the convoy depart for the next day.

To assist in organizing the convoy, there are CIVPOL and UN-CIVPOL units and line up the check points and anyone who falls up the Finnish unauthorized vehicles passing the convoy. They also ensure that vehicles in the convoy are closed-in

Ceremonies mark Presidential Inauguration

His Excellency the President of Ireland, Mr. Eamon de Valera, was inaugurated on Saturday, 25 June, for his second term of office. To mark the occasion, 6th Infantry Group held special ceremonies at Xeros Camp. After Mass, all troops, including detachments from out-camps, paraded to the flagstaff where the Unit Flag was blessed by Rev. Fr. Condon, CF. The Commander of IRCON, Lt. Colonel J. Walsh, then announced the inauguration from the review stand. National Flags, the ceremony concluded with the National Anthem.

On the same night, a barbecue camp-fire concert was cal children were entertained to a film show, on Sunday, 19th June, by the Armd Car Group at Limnitis. During the show, minerals, sweets, ice cream etc, were served at frequent intervals and this helped to make the occasion a big success, as did the efforts of C/S O'Shaughnessey, Sgt Maher and the other unit NCOs.

On 17th June in Nicosia, Armd Car Group soccer team beat a R.E.M.E. (Nicosia) team by 4 goals to 1.

Lieutenant Larsen took first place in two out of three practices and was second in the other to run out a clear winner from Lieutenant Colonel H. Nielsen, DANCON, with Major K.L. Hansen, DANCON, and Captain J.F. Hayes, BRITCON, tying for third place. The team event was won by the Danish Contingent.

You name it, they'll fix it...

Weapons, vehicles, optical equipment, electronic equipment and they can fix it. If they can't fix it, they can't fix it. The Canadian Detachment, led by Captain Gerry Macdonald, consists of the Maintenance Platoon of the 2nd Battalion of the Black Watch (The Buffs) and the maintenance section of B Squadron of the 8th Hussars and some personnel.

Command of the detachment is WO 2 Bernie Hynes who normally commands the 2 RHC Maintenance Platoon. Most of his platoon is absorbed into the wheeled vehicle section of the detachment while Sergeant H.R. Wilson of the Recce Squadron forms a ferret section with his crew.

The newest member of the detachment is Lance Corporal Kenny White formerly of the 2 RHC Regimental Police Section. Lance Corporal White has always been interested in the welding trade and is presently undergoing in job training with the metals section of the detachment with a view to transferring to RCEME on return to Canada. He has certainly done more than his fair share of work on the self help projects which are constantly under way at Lizard Flats during off duty hours and his jeep mounted welding set can usually be seen wherever there is some metal that needs mending or cutting.

JÄÄKÄRI JOUKO HUHAN VIIMEINEN MATKA

Varhain juhannusviikon tiistaina järjestettiin Kykko School Campissa muistotilaisuus jääkäri Jouko Antero Huhun muistoksi. Kak-koskomppanialaisista koottu kunniaosasto, kanadanylämaalainen sakkipillinsoittaja ja rumpali, pataljoonan komentajan laskema sepele ja asetovereita saattoväkenä, siinä puitteet rauhanjääkäriin viimeiselle kotimatalle.

Korattoman muistotilaisuuden päätteeksi saattajat ja kunniaosasto seurasivat vainajaa Nikosian kansainväliselle lentokentälle, jossa asetoverit kantoivat arkun kentällä odottavaan ruotsalais-tanskalaiseen huoltokoneeseen.

HANESTA JAI HYVA MUISTO.

Kykkossa pitamassaan muistopuheessa pataljoonan pastori Aarne Huima viittasi siihen miellyttävään muistoon aina toimivalmiista ja kuuliaisesta rauhansotilaasta, jonka vainaja niin esimiehilleen kuin asetovereilleen jätti työstään kansainvälisen rauhan hyväksi.

Pastori puhui myös lähimmäisen rakkaudesta ja pyhän kirjan sanoja lainatessaan hän kiinnitti läsnäolijoiden huomion siihen todelliseen rakkauteen, jonka mukaan ei ole oikein, että yksi ihminen yksin kantaa taakkaa, vaan tasapuolisuuden nimissä se on jaettava useamman osalle, jottei kantamus tulisi ylivoimaiseksi yhden osalle.

HAN ON TURVALLISISSA KASISSA.

Jääkäri Jouko Antero Huhun lähtee nyt viimeiselle kotimatalleen, mutta voimme ollavarmat siitä, että hän on päässyt turvallisiin käsiin, sanoi pastori Huima lopuksi.

Tilaisuuden päätteeksi veisattiin yhdessä virresta 332 ensimmäinen säkeistö. Vainajaa seurasivat konekoneen mukana saattajina ltn Vainio ja asetoverien edustajana jääkäri Julmala.

Kansainvälisen Tason Kuvaaja

Menneen kolmen kuukauden aikana olemme saaneet tässä julkaisussa nähdä hyviä ja naulan kantaan osuneita valokuvia turvajoukkojen uudesta komentajasta, suomalaiskontingentin tapahtumista jne. Kaikkeasta tästä lankeaa kiitos pataljoonan valokuvaajalle Jorma Lammisselle.

Hänen ottamistaan korkeatasoisista uutis- ja pr-kuvista eivät ole päässeet nauttimaan ainoastaan Blue Beretin lukijat, vaan kotimaan ja kansainvälisen lehdistön valikyt-sella olemme päässeet levittämään Suomen tuntemusta kaikkialla maailmassa.

Tilajina kv. uutistoimistot ja YK.

Mainittakoon, että kolme viikkoa sitten Yhdistyneitten Kansakuntien New Yorkin päämajan tiedotuskeskus halusi, kansainvälisiltä tietotoimistoilta (Reuter, UPI, AP, AFP jne) saaman vihjeen perusteella nähdä hieman tarkemmin "Linsin" ottamia kuvia. Pinnakaat toimitettiin New Yorkiin ja seurauksena oli 18 negatiivin tilvaus yli sata maata käsittävää maailmanlevitystä varten.

Samainen tiedotuskeskus tilasi Jorma Lammin ottamaan uudet muotokuvat kenraali Martolasta ja pääsihteerin erikoisedustaja, suurlähettiläs Bernardeksesta. Seurauksena oli negatiivipyynnö karkista otoksista, jopa sellaisistakin, joita Jorma itse ei pitänyt hyvänä. Kultasepistä Kielitaitoiseksi Kuvajaksi.

Valokuvaaja Lamminen on koti-Suomessa ammatiltaan kultaseppä. Moinen kovalla kansainvälisellä tasolla saavutettu tunnustus ja menestys tullee kuitenkin melko varmasti merkitsemään valitun elämänuran muuttumista.

Jorma Lamminen Sopii maailman luokan valokuvaajaksi myös sänä mielessä, että hän on saarella ollessaan kuvausharrastustensa ohessa hankkinut itselleen hyvän ja monipuolisen kielitaidon. Hän kelpaa muille suomalaisille rauhan sotilaille esimerkiksi mvö tässä suhteessa.

Arkun ääressä oleva kunnivartio oli muodostettu vainajan asetoverista ja rumpali sekä sakkipillinsoittaja kanadalaisesta ylamaalaisrykmentistä. Kuvassa pastori Aarne Huima pitämässä muistopuhetta arkun ääressä.

A Soviet draft treaty on principles governing the activities of States in the use of outer space, the moon and other celestial bodies was made public at UN Headquarters in New York last week.

'55 souvenir sheet now $ 100 UNPA EXHIBIT IN NICOSIA

Some time ago, in this column, David S.J. Alexander, President of the UN Philatelic Society, explained why UN stamp values had increased 60 per cent in the past three months. He goes on to explain which are the most valuable issues.

For years the 3-cent Human Rights Day stamp of 1954 was one of the few "good" items. It is still a good item, of course; a 3-cent sheet, face value $1.50, sells for about $450; but the issues preceeding and following this stamp are now becoming valuable too. A single 3-cent and 8-cent stamp of the 1954 UN Day issue and 1955 ICAO issue, face value 11-cent each, sell for over $8.00 — they are as good, in fact, as the 1954 Human Rights Day issue was two years ago.

The 50 cent stamp of the 1951 regular issue (see right) is fast becoming the best UN stamp of all: it sells for anything between $13.00 — $19.00.

In fact all the pre-1956 issues are good solid items; all are on the move. Between 1957 and 1960 there was much less interest in UN stamps; the printings were much higher, so the value of these particular stamps has not risen. Some post 1961 issues have become interesting for a variety of reasons. The 1961 4-cent UNICEF Commemorative was a beautiful stamp, issued just before Christmas, so many were used on mail; although the UN Postal Administration reckons that the life of a commemorative is about 18 months.

The ECLA issue curled badly; for that reason people did not buy it; now it is in short supply and is climbing rapidly in value. The first printing of the 1965 25-cent regular stamp had the printer's name in the bottom margin, and the marginal inscriptions forgotten by the printer had to be added locally. It was a fair bet therefore that the reprint would be different so the stamps sold fast. The bottom strip of ten of this first printing face value $2.50, now costs between $50.00 and $60.00 from a dealer; a whole sheet, face value $12.50, costs $130.00 — this after eight months.

The 15 cent 1955 souvenir sheet, by the way, only 250,000 of which were printed, sells for between $92.00 and $110.00 today!

An exhibit of United Nations postage stamps has arrived in Cyprus and will be on display for a few weeks in Nicosia.

The first exhibit will open on Tuesday evening, 5 July at 1900 hours on the premises of the United Nations Association of Cyprus, at President Makarios Avenue Number 14, second floor.

The exhibit, consisting of six double-panels, is entitled UNITED NATIONS IN ACTION, and will remain open at the UNA from 0900 to 1300 and from 1900 to 2100 hours daily through Saturday, 9 July. Future locations will be announced later in this column.

U THANT TO BE AVAILABLE FOR SECOND TERM AS SECRETARY-GENERAL?

Answer after Europe visit

UN Secretary-General, U Thant, said last week that he would make known his decision on whether to be available for a new term of office after he returned to UN Headquarters — after a visit to Europe—on 9th July.

Addressing journalists at a press luncheon in New York, U Thant said he had given the matter a good deal of thought for the last four or five months and his decision would be guided by various official, political and personal considerations.

Stating that he would be very happy if the Security Council was in a position to find someone to succeed him, the Secretary-General said he did not agree with those who said this would be difficult if he decided not to offer himself for a new term next autumn.

If necessary, he added, he would be very glad to help the Council find a successor if it so desired; he did not think it was a very big problem.

But this did not imply, he said, that he had already taken a decision.

PEACE-KEEPING

The Secretary-General urged more energetic efforts to find a formula by which the UN could be effectively involved in future situations when called upon to perform functions which regional organizations or individual States could not carry out.

In a letter addressed to all Governments, U Thant noted there was still a deficit of some three million dollars facing UNFICYP. The costs to the world Organization since inception of the peace-keeping force in March 1964 has totalled almost 50 million dollars.

Last week the Security Council voted unanimously to extend the Cyprus operation for another six months, until 26 December. Estimated costs for this new period, U Thant said in his letter, amount to over 10 million dollars.

To date, he went on, only a little over two million dollars has been pledged.

The Secretary-General said new pledges totalling some 11 millions dollars were needed if the United Nations was to honour in full its commitments and to cover costs involved in maintaining the Cyprus operation during the next six months.

'BARBAROUS CONFLICT' MUST END

U Thant emphasizes need for Viet-Nam settlement

UN Secretary-General, U Thant, last week again emphasized the need for steps to bring a negotiated settlement of the Viet-Nam conflict, which he described as one of the most barbarous wars in history.

U Thant reiterated his belief that three steps were essential to bring about a situation congenial to the holding of negotiations on the return to the 1954 Geneva agreements.

These were:

● End to the bombing of North Viet-Nam;

● Scaling down of all military activities in South Viet-Nam; and

● Willingness by all sides to enter into discussions with those actually fighting.

These steps alone, he said, could create conditions conducive to the holding of a conference and peaceful settlement — and the need for them was becoming more and more urgent.

The Secretary-General made this statement at a press luncheon held in New York last week.

U THANT ON PEACE-KEEPING

Following is the text of the questions put to the Secretary-General, U Thant, and his replies concerning peace-keeping and Cyprus (see story on page one)

"Q. Continuing on the subject of peace-keeping, and regarding Cyprus, in your latest report on Cyprus you appear to rule out financing of future peace-keeping operations by voluntary contributions. What would you consider the ideal way, and what do you consider possible in the present political climate?"

"A. From our experience in financing the UNFICYP, I have come to the conclusion that the method of financing a peace-keeping operation on a voluntary basis has been unsatisfactory. That has been my conclusion for the last two years, and I have stated this publicly in my reports to the Security Council. Of course, my considerations alone should not influence the entire membership in their decisions on these matters. But for the benefit of the entire membership, I have to say that the United Nations experience of voluntary financing of a peace-keeping operation, in Cyprus for instance, has been unsatisfactory. So it is for the entire membership to devise ways and means of financing future peace-keeping operations on a more satisfactory basis.

"Q. Some members of the Security have hinted that this was the last time they would renew the mandate for UNFICYP. What bearing should this have on the search for a solution?"

"A. As I have also stated in my report to the Security Council, I do not think the United Nations should be involved indefinitely with its peacekeeping functions in Cyprus as the United Nations has been (faced) in the case of UNEF (United Nations Emergency Force in the Middle East), for instance. Apart from other considerations there is the very important financial consideration which is a very heavy strain on the United Nations, particularly on some of its members. And that is the reason why I have been trying in the last few months to present some ideas, if not proposals, to the parties primarily concerned, to bring about a peaceful solution of the problem. So far, of course, my efforts have not been conclusive. But I very much hope that the parties primarily concerned will exert their utmost efforts to find a peaceful solution to their problem before the end of this year."

of the Administrative Committee which coordinates the work of the U.N. and its agencies and the opening of the summer session of the Economic and Social Council.

On 7 July he will pay an official visit to Iceland and is due back at UN Headquarters on 9 July.

Agricultural reform - urgent for survival

In Rome last week, delegates from 70 nations were warned that a radical agricultural reform was an urgent matter of survival for the developing countries in view of trends towards increasing economic equality in these areas and in the face of a population explosion.

Warnings were issued by speakers at the opening of the World Land Reform Conference convened jointly by the UN Food and Agriculture Organization, with the participation of the International Labour Organization.

They stressed that the present critical state of world food and agriculture called for substantial efforts to bring about an agricultural revolution to increase food production in the developing countries.
